The News.

The steamship Indian, with four days later dates from Europe, arrived at Portland yesterday. The intelligence she brings is not important. The marriage of the Princess Royal of England, to Prince Frederick William of Prussia, was duly celebrated on the 25th ult., amidst great rejoicings. The Leviathan is almost afloat. The American ship Adriatic, which took "French Leave" from the port of Marseilles, has been captured and carried back. The Money Market, in England, was easier, and breadstuffs lower.

Congress makes but little headway with the public business. It seems pretty certain, now, that the bill to increase the U. S. Army will be defeated, as it ought to be.

Destructive fires occurred yesterday at Utica, N. Y., Marysville, Ky., and Belvidere, Ill.

We hear from Madison that Mr. U. A. Stevens of La Crosse, and Thomas Falvey, of Racine, who had been subpœned as witnesses before the Investigating Committee, have got into trouble by refusing to appear and answer. Mr. Falvey is in custody of the Sergeant-at-Arms. Nothing of importance done in the Legislature yesterday.

The Milwaukee and Mississippi and Chicago and Milwaukee R. R. Companies made choice yesterday of their officers for the ensuing year.—Their names will be found elsewhere.

Yesterday was the coldest day of the winter, the thermometer at sunrise marking 10 degrees below zero, and the weather moderating but little during the day.

New York Produce Market unchanged. In our own market, there is a brisk demand for good milling wheat and heavy pork.

OUR MEMBER IN THE FLOUR.—The Washington correspondent of the Cincinnati Gazette thus writes in regard to the fight on the floor of the House of Representatives, last Friday night:

The manner in which the Northern men stood up on that occasion, meeting every require ment manfully, and hurling defiance right in the teeth of insolent aggressors, has made a decided impression, and may be the means of preventing further difficulties. Grow, Washburne of Illinois, Potter of Wisconsin, and others, showed a spirit and purpose which will tell hereafter, should the experiment be repeated of attempting to dragoon men into submission by threats of violence. Potter was especially noticed in the midst of the party where a dozen members was enraged, howling his way through all opposition, and doing vigorous service in a manner which quite astonished and shocked some of the cuffaity.

SHOCKING AFFAIR.—HYENA LET LOOSE.—A distressing tragedy occured last week in the Western part of Ohio. Gamaniy's menagerie is wintering two miles west of Paulding, Paulding county. Among the other animals was a Hyena, said to be the largest in the United States. The animal was very ferocious, and had twice bitten his keeper. Early on Wednesday morning last, the Hyena escaped. Search was instantly made, and later in the morning he was discovered in the grave yard, having dug up and partly devoured two or three dead bodies.—Several of the assailants rushed in to take it, when it turned on its assailants, striking down a German day laborer named Jacon Poffonberg, and crushed the head of the unfortunate man in its jaws, killing him instantly. The brute then then made its escape, after tearing the flesh from the right arm and chest of a lad, who is not expected to recover. The animal succeeded in making good its escape. The citizens are much excited. Parties are scouring the woods, and the menagerie men have been notified by some of the citizens to remove their establishment at once.—Cleveland Herald.

Paraguay vs. Uncle Sam.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 10.

A joint resolution, introduced in the Senate to-day, from the Committee on Foreign Relations authorizes the President to use the naval forces in the event of the refusal of Paraguay to give satisfaction for the attack on the steamer Water Witch, etc. There is some talk of sending out especial minister to make the demand.

It is now generally believed that Congress will refuse to increase the army.

Fire at Maysville, Ky.

CINCINNATI, Feb. 10.

A despatch from Maysville, Ky., to the "Commercial," says the extensive establishment known as the Union Factory, recently erected for the manufacture of coal oil, was entirely destroyed by fire at 3 o'clock yesterday morning. Loss estimated at from forty to fifty thousand dollars. No insurance.

Fire.

UTICA, Feb. 10.

The Evening Telegraph newspaper office, and the bookstore of J. W. Fuller & Co., were destroyed by fire last night. The drug store of S. D. Foster was also greatly damaged. The aggregate loss will be from $32,000 to $35,000—insurance about $20,000.

CITY MATTERS.

THE RELIEF ASSOCIATION.—We are requested to say that the Union Relief Association are in great want of second-hand bedding, more especially quilts, coverlets and blankets; and were yesterday obliged to turn away several worthy applicants, who wanted some covering to keep them from freezing. Donations of cast-off clothing, and boots and shoes for men, women and children, are also much needed. The ladies are eager to do their part in contributing clothing.—The very cold weather of the last ten days has added greatly to the sufferings of the poor.

AN ELEGANT TURN-OUT.—Messrs. BUTLER & POST created a sensation, yesterday, with a superb team of six bay horses, harnessed to their new and elegant Omnibus Sleigh, which holds some twenty odd people. Filling it up with a crowd of jolly fellows, including the editors of the city papers, and Commissary BINGHAM, of the Light Guard, they drove out to "the Abbey" (formerly "the Cold Spring House") when the wide-awake proprietor, Mr. BOOROM, got up, at the shortest notice, a capital lunch. After spending a pleasant hour there, the party returned to town, highly pleased with their sleigh-ride. The six-in-hand was the handsomest we have ever seen in our city, and the horses were driven, in the most artistic style, by Michael Foy.

O. T. W. S.—The members of this Order are notified to meet at the Light Guard Saloon, this, Thursday evening, at 9 o'clock, to transact business of importance. None but those who have been duly initiated and taking all the degrees (including the Mac Manman) can be admitted on this occasion.

COMMON COUNCIL.—THE HARBOR INVESTIGATION.—The Common Council met yesterday morning, pursuant to adjournment to continue the investigation of the Harbor Contracts. On motion, Ald. Mallory took the Chair.

Ald. Johnson asked to be excused until the afternoon, as he had urgent business to look after.

Ald. Plankinton expressed his wish that no member of the Council be excused during the investigation.

Ald. Hadley would vote to excuse the gentleman, although he should be pleased to have the Alderman from the Fourth Ward present during the whole of this investigation; particularly did he desire the gentleman's presence, because he (Ald. Johnson) had made a remark in the Council, that there was an outside rumor that he (Ald. Hadley) was interested in the Harbor Contract, and this investigation he looked upon in a measure as a self-defense against the slander. (I) He would, nevertheless, vote to excuse the gentleman if his business necessarily called him away.

Ald. Johnson was consequently excused and the Council proceeded with the investigation.

We learn that it is the intention, as soon as the examination of the documents relating to the Harbor Contracts, is got through with, to have the whole work re-surveyed by competent engineers. It is to be hoped that the Council may make a thorough investigation of this matter, although it is absurd to, suppose that such an examination will result in the detection of fraud or corruption—if any there has been—on the part of any of the Council men.

THE DONATION VISIT this evening, to the residence of the Rev. Mr. PRESCOTT, must not be forgotten. There is no institution in Milwaukee which calls more earnestly for the support of the Christian and moral part of the community than our City Missions. Mr. PRESCOTT was appointed by the City Missionary Society as Missionary among the Foreign and poor population, at a salary which, during the financial embarassments of the last half year has remained unpaid. Of late he has maintained himself mainly by teaching, apart from his missionary labors, but is now deprived of this resource, and the friends of the Mission are constrained to ask the Church and all others to come forward now and prevent the suspension of a good work which has been so nobly begun. Those who cannot personally attend are urged to send their contributions, and are assured they will be of great assistance where assistance is greatly needed.

His residence is on the North side of Tamarack street, the first house West from West Water street.

MILWAUKEE AND CHICAGO R. R.—The Annual Meeting of the Milwaukee and Chicago R. R. Company was held in this city, yesterday, and the following Directors and Officers were chosen, to serve during the current year:

MILWAUKEE & MISSISSIPPI R. R.—At a meeting of the Directors of the M. & M. R. R. Company, held yesterday morning, the following officers were chosen for the ensuing year:

President—JOHN CATLIN.

Vice President—HANS CROCKER.

Treasurer—CHARLES H. WILLIAMS.

Secretary—WILLIAM TAINTER.

Superintendent—WILLIAM JERVIS.

Auditor—A. G. MILLER, Jr.

Executive Committee—J. Catlin, H. Crocker, A. Eldred, A. Finch, Jr., Geo. H. Walker.

A PLEASANT AFFAIR.—No pleasanter time could any mortals enjoy, than did the gay company who attended the Old American Party, at Concert Hall on Tuesday evening. They were not all "old folks," although these are said to be exclusively "old folks parties." There was a goodly sprinkling of Young America, of both sexes, there—just enough to give vivacity to the occasion—and all, both old and young, appeared to be having the merriest of a time. These agreeable parties come off once a week, and are got up expressly for amusement, and are managed by a committee of gentlemen. A number of our most respectable citizens attend them.

A MILITARY COMPANY AT WAUKESHA.—Preparation are being made for the organization of a Military Company at Waukesha. Governor Randall, says the Republican, has given assurances that the Company shall be supplied with necessary equipments, and Mr. Robinson, has kindly offered his new Hall for a drill room.—We understand also, that a gentleman from Milwaukee, well posted in military tactics, has tendered his services to put the company, when formed, through—"Shoulder Arms!" "Present!" "All Ready!" "Take Aim!" &c.

THE ORPHAN FESTIVAL.—The Festival of the German Orphan Asylum at Young's Hall, on Tuesday night, was a very pleasant affair. Notwithstanding the attraction of the Masquerade there was a large attendance there. The tickets were sold for the moderate price of one dollar, including a good supper, which was something of an inducement in these hard times.—There was a good band of musicians in attendance, and the dancing was kept up till a late hour. The way in which this festival was conducted, reflects credit upon the managers.

WINTER IN EARNEST.—Yesterday was the coldest day of the Winter, the mercury, at eight o'clock A. M. marking eleven degrees below zero. A sharp west wind intensified the cold, and made everybody feel for the muskrats, who are said to have built very thin walls, for their houses, this winter.

THE RAILROAD BALL.—The Railroad Ball at Fond du Lac, takes place to-night. Those who design to attend will leave on the La Crosse train at 1:45 P. M., arriving in Fond du Lac at 7 o'clock P. M. The train leaves at 7 o'clock to-morrow morning, enabling visitors to return home at noon. RESORICE'S and GRANT at the General Railroad Office, have tickets for sale.

DONATION VISIT.—The friends of the Rev. Mr. PODELUPE, our indefatigable city Missionary, are invitited to pay him a visit at the German Mission room, corner of Tamarac and West Water St. on the evening of Thursday, Feb. 11th.

FIRE DEPARTMENT NOTICE.—The Foremen of the several Fire Companies of this city, are requested to meet at the House of Engine Co. No. 2, this Thursday evening at half-past 7 o'clock.

SNOW.—Our Chicago neighbors, like ourselves, are rejoicing in about six inches of snow, which has made capital sleighing, and they as well as the Milwaukeeans, know how to appreciate such a rarity.

MEMBERS OF MASQUERADE SOCIETY.—The members of the Masquerade Committee, will meet to night at 7½ o'clock, at the Hall on Market Square, a general attendance is solicited.

POLICE COURT.—There was but one case before the Police Court, yesterday. Michael O'Neal, for being intoxicated and disorderly, was fined $10 and costs.

DEATH FROM AN OVER-DOSE OF MORPHINE.—Yesterday morning, Mrs. Julius Biedorman, wife of Professor Biederman of this city, died at her residence on Oneida Street from the effects of an over-dose of morphine. Mrs. Biedermann had been suffering terribly from an attack of neuralgia in the face, and in hopes of alleviating the pain, she sent her servant girl out on Tuesday to a druggists for two shillings worth of morphine, all of which she took at one dose. She slept all through the day and until at 1½ o'clock when she died. She leaves three small children motherless.

Mrs. Beiderman was an estimable lady, and she leaves a host of friends, both among her own country people and others, who will sympathize with her husband in this sad bereavement.

CIRCUIT COURT—JUDGE MCARTHUR PRESIDING.—The following cases were disposed of in the Circuit Court, yesterday:

John S. Lane against L. L. Lee, continued for to day.

Charles S. MacReading vs. Wm. Goodnow.—Jury trial. Judgment for plaintiff, damages $508 74.

Alexander Mitchell vs. Wm. W. Caswell.—Judgment for the plaintiff on inquest $1,916 68.

Timothy Carney vs. Thomas Hinch, et. al.—Judgment for the plaintiff $85 70.

Andrew Mullen, et. al., against Thomas Hinch, et. al: Judgment for the plaintiffs $858 76.

MASQUERADE BALL.—The Masquerade Ball of the Carnival Society, at the Albany, on Tuesday evening, was well attended, and proved to be a very amusing affair. The Company was numerous, the characters various, the masques entertaining, the supper good, and the music excellent. Dancing was kept up, with great spirit, till long after midnight.

TONNAGE OF THE LAKES.—It has been our custom during the past 5 years, to publish at the close of the year a list of the new vessels built at the several lake ports during the season, together with the aggregate tonnage and valuation of the same.

We now present our list for 1857, which we believe includes every vessel built during the year. It may possibly happen that the amount of tonnage is in a few instances either above or below the exact amount. We have taken much pains to collect our figures from notices which have from time to time appeared in the press of the lake cit es, or new vessels, and it may have occurred that the tonnage was given before the vessels were launched.

The new tonnage added in 1854 was as follows:

Total steamer tonnage		8,448 29
" propellers	"	5,168 47
" barque	"	5,129 00
" brig	"	1,000 00
" schooner	"	19,469 00
Grand total	"	40,789 86

In 1855 there were built on the lakes:

8 steamers, tonnage		1,696
8 propellers,	"	4,318
1 tug,	"	251
3 barques,	"	776
6 brigs,	"	1,742
105 schooners,	"	35,702
126 Total	"	87,429

In 1856 there were built and launched on the lakes the following:

3 steamers, tonnage		2,660
29 propellers,	"	12,765
3 tugs	"	205
5 barques,	"	2,488
1 brig,	"	484
121 schooners,	"	34,932
157 Total	"	53,850

In 1856 the following vessels were built on the lakes

5 steamers,	4,120 tons	value, $	840,500
20 propellers,	11,876	"	811,700
16 tugs,	1,413	"	159,000
3 barques,	1,364	"	79,000
2 brigs,	389	"	28,200
98 schooners,	28,669	"	1,009,100
6 scows,	415	"	17,000
149	48,598		2,746,500

This gives our lake tonnage an increase in three years of—

11 steamers of	7,815 tons.
38 propellers of	28,844 "
24 tugs of	2,353 "
Total steam		39,317 tons.
10 barques,	4,478 "
9 brigs,	3,015 "
327 schooners,	99,687 "
Total Sail		100,160 tons.
Grand Total		139,477 "

The total value of this new tonnage is as follows:

Steam tonnage in 1855,	$ 895,000
" " 1856,	2,746,500
" " 1857,	1,250,000
Total steam		$4,847,200
Sail tonnage in	1855, $1,318,800
" "	1856, 1,694,450
" "	1857, 1,428,600
Total sail		4,241,850
Grand total		$7,088,950

Total tonnage on the lakes in the fall of 1857 was 888,803 tons, and the value of the same was $15,192,400.—Buffalo Courier.

BY MAGNETIC TELEGRAPH

LATER FROM EUROPE.

ARRIVAL OF THE STEAMER INDIAN.

PORTLAND, MAINE, Feb. 10.

The steamship Indian, Capt. Jones, arrived here at 11 o'clock this morning. She left Liverpool on the morning of the 27th ult., at 9 o'clock.

Her dates are, consequently, four days later than those by the Arabia, at New York.

The steamship City of Baltimore also sailed on the 27th ult., from Liverpool, and the North Star was to leave Southampton on the same day for New York.

The steamship Niagara, from Boston, arrived at Liverpool on the 26th ult.

GREAT BRITAIN.—The marriage of Prince Frederick William of Prussia, was celebrated at the chapel royal, St. James Palace, on the 25th of January, according to the programme.

The day was generally observed as a holliday. Immense crowds cheered the royal party in the most enthusiastic manner. After the conclusion of the ceremonies, the bride gave vent to her feelings, and flung herself upon her mother's bosom, at which a scene took place in which great emotion was evinced by all concerned.

After the marriage the young couple started for Windsor. On arriving at that place, they were drawn in a carriage to the castle by the "Eaton boys," admid enthusiastic cheering.

The Queen, in London, gave a grand state concert at Buckingham Palace, on the eve of the wedding day.

The principal streets of London were brilliantly illuminated in honor of the occasion.

Serious disturbances took place at Belfast, Ireland, on the eve of the 25th. Some five works having been set off in honor of the marriage of the Princess Royal, a great crowd gathered in the principal streets, and soon evinced a riotous disposition by throwing stones. A large body of police attempted to restore order, but were assailed with missiles. Finally the disturbances rose to such a height, that the Mayor read the riot act, and took measures to suppress the mob, in which he succeeded, after some trouble, and by midnight the town had assumed its usual quiet. Numerous arrests of the rioters were made.

Operations were resumed on the Leviathan, on the 23d and 24th ult., and the ship was moved forward about 3 feet per day. During the proceedings, an iron handle sprung from its position throwing men engaged on it in various directions severely injuring several.

It was rumored that Admiral Loyd Lyon would succeed Lord Stratford de Redcliff as Ambassador to Constantinople, and that Vice Admiral Funshowe would succeed to the command of the fleet of the Mediterranean.

FRANCE.—The American vessel Adriatic, which came in collision with the steamer Lyonnais, was captured in the Gulf of Spezzia, by a French war steamer, and taken back to Marseilles. The captain was put in irons.

Congratulatory addresses continue to flow in upon Napoleon. One from the army was very enthusiastic.

It was reported that Gen. Chadgarnier would return to France.

A proposition to divide the Empire into four military departments, to be commanded by Generals most attached to the Napoleon dynasty, is being entertained by the French Government.

The other news by this arrival possesses no features of special importance.

LIVERPOOL MARKET, Jan. 27.—Cotton, since the departure of the Arabia, has been moderately active; but operators have exercised more than ordinary caution. The market closed this evening with a firm and upward tendency, and the quotations generally, are put up fully ¼ of a penny per lb., advance on the rates current at the sailing of the last Cunard steamer; sales for the three days foot up 20,000 bales, of which speculators took about 4,000, and exporters 2,000: all qualities have partaken of the upward movement, and all were about equally buoyant.

Manchester advices are also quite favorable, and holders of goods demand an advance over last week's prices.

Breadstuffs—Our market for flour and wheat has been very dull, during the past few days, and to effect sales to any extent, lower prices would have to be submitted to.

Richardson & Co., quote eastern canal flour, 22s@23s, which is a decline of 6d, per bbl. The same firm quote Balt. and Phila. at 24s.; Ohio 25s@27s.; wheat in limited request, and the quotations per Arabia, have been barely maintained. American red sells at 6s@6s 2d; white at 7s 6d@7s 9d for choice descriptions.

Indian corn has been in better demand; market closing very firm at 6s@10s., about the price of last Friday; mixed is quoted 32s 6d; white 36s@37s; yellow at 33s 7d.

Provisions continue very quiet; beef steady, at last market rates; pork dull, but holders demand the current rates of last week, without, however, finding purchasers, except in a retail way; bacon very quiet, but not lower; lard, steady at former prices.

WISCONSIN LEGISLATURE.

MADISON, Feb. 10—10 A. M.

Kansas Resolutions—Mr. Wheeler offered a resolution to postpone special order of Kansas resolutions to 7 o'clock this P. M.—some members deeming it a matter of sufficient importance to demand an afternoon for its disposal. Resolution was finally adopted.

Bills Introduced—To authorize Judge of 6th Circuit to appoint a place for holding courts.—To incorporate a Literary Association in Rock county—to authorize the borrowing of money on credit of State to pay State bonds—to vacate part of street and block in Waupun—to change time of holding court in Walworth county—to provide for publication and distribution of Laws of Wisconsin, concerning the organization and government of towns—to amend act incorporating city of La Crosse—to incorporate Saving Trust Company of La Crosse—for promotion and encouragement of agriculture.

Bills Passed—To incorporate the Oconto Lumbering company—also, Farmers Mutual Insurance Company of Calumet county.

A communication was received from the Governor, with appointment to fill vacancy in Normal Board of Regents.

Adjourned.

ASSEMBLY.—Called to order at 10 A. M., by the Speaker.

Petitions and Communications.—The Speaker laid before the Assembly two writs issued by Joint Investigating Committee—one against C. A. Stevens and the other against Thos. Falvey, which they refused to answer or appear, and Mr. Falvey was arraigned for contempt. Mr. Stevens applied to Court Commissioner Lansing for a writ of habeas corpus. Mr. Falvey sent in a communication asking time to reply as to why he failed to appear before the committee voluntarily, and answer said questions, and that he be heard by counsel. Mr. Knowlton spoke at length as to why he should not be heard by counsel, as it would establish a precedent that would govern the Assembly in all future cases—200 or more of which may arise—and the investigation would consume months if the prayer of the petitioner was granted, and the lawyers of the State allowed to harangue the body on the constitutionality of the proceedings. It was absurd, and he trusted no member would entertain the proposition for a moment, as being just or practicable. P. H. Smith spoke in favor of allowing Mr. Falvey to be heard by counsel, as he considered it unjust to condemn unheard. Several others spoke on the subject. After taking a vote on several motions to that effect, all of which were voted down, Mr. Falvey was allowed to 4 o'clock to prepare answers to interrogatories presented by Mr. Knowlton, relative to his refusal to appear before the committee. Resolutions were adopted declaring Thos. Falvey guilty of contempt for refusing to appear before the committee, and answer interrogatories when brought before said committee. The Assembly then took a recess till 4 o'clock, Mr. Falvey remaining in the custody of the Sergeant-at-Arms.

XXXVth Congress—First Session.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 9.

SENATE.—Various petitions and memorials were presented, including one from Iowa, praying for reimbursements for the expenses of the Indian war at Spirit Lake, and that the volunteers in that war receive the grants of the public lands.

Mr. Douglas moved to postpone the army bill in order to take up his Kansas resolution calling for returns of elections, &c. Lost. Yeas 23, nays 30.

Mr. Douglas, from Committee on Foreign Relations, reported a resolution, granting authority to the President to settle the difficulties with Paraguay. Ordered to be printed.

Mr. Pugh advocated Mr. Douglas' motion, postponing the Army Bill, but voting against the postponement after making an explanation.

Mr. Mason said that when Mr. Douglas' resolution was called up, if it was not previously tabled it would lead to a very long debate, and if adopted, its effect would be to transfer to the halls of Congress the excitement now existing in Kansas. He would, therefore, when it comes up, move to lay it on the table, as a test question, on the ground that it was not a proper subject for the consideration of the Senate.

Mr. Pugh stated, in explanation of his vote on Mr. Douglas' motion, that although he was in favor of the Kansas resolution, he should vote against the postponement of the Army Bill for any new discoveries.

Mr. Dixon, of Conn., commenced a reply to the speeches of Mr. Toombs and others, on the Kansas slavery question. In the course of his remarks he referred to the President's letter to Prof. Silliman, eulogizing the latter as the peer of the highest mind in the scientific world, and having attained an eminence which, if the President himself should ever reach, he might well be satisfied.

Mr. Foot called the attention of the Senate to the subject immediately before it. He was opposed to the increase of the Army, and even thought that it might be reduced without detriment to the country, as to Utah troubles, he would withdraw the troops already there, and recall the government officers, leaving the Mormons to the fate of their own vices and delusions. He was of the opinion that the proposed increase would fall far below the number that would be required. If for the protection of the frontier against the Indians, he would say protect these poor Indians against their white aggressors, put a stop to the wrongs and robberies committed on them, withdraw your agents and there will be no need to send troops against them.

Mr. Foot continued at some length in a similar strain, closing with the remark that in the absence of international discord, and in the presence of the pending of the national bankruptcy, he thought it would best subserve the interests of the country to vote against the bill in all its parts.

Mr. Pugh said if gentlemen would bring in a bill reducing both the army and navy he would vote for it.

Mr. Benjamin opposed the bill. He had looked through all the reports and documents on the subject, without seeing any good reason for an increase in the army. The expense would amount to $14,000,000. He was willing to support the Administration in any reasonable measure, but could not vote for such a proposition.

Mr. Hamlin opposed the bill. He would not vote a dollar to send troops to Kansas or Utah, and would never sanction, by his note an executive war. He agreed with the Senator from Vermont, and would recall the troops and officers from Utah and leave the Mormons to their fate.

Mr. Wilson got the floor, and the Senate adjourned.

HOUSE.—A resolution was adopted authorizing the committee appointed to investigate the accounts and official conduct of the late doorkeeper of the House, to extend their inquiries into charges affecting the official conduct of the present door-keeper.

Glancy Jones, from the Ways and Means Committee, reported an appropriation bill to enable the President to carry out the Sound Dues.

A bill was passed appropriating $80,000 for the expenses of running the boundary line between the Territory of the United States and the State of Texas.

On motion of Mr. Haskin, a resolution providing for the appointment of a special committee to investigate facts and circumstances connected with the sale and purchase of a tract of land at Willis's or Wilkinson's Point, New York, as a site for government fortifications with power to send for persons and papers. The remainder of the day was devoted to calling upon the States for bills and resolutions upon various subjects adjourned.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 10.

SENATE.—Mr. Harlan presented the credentials of Hon. J. W. Grimes, the new Senator from Iowa.

Mr. Douglas attempted to bring up his Kansas resolution. Mr. Davis objected, and called for the ayes and nays. Mr. Douglas proceeded to give reasons why the resolution should be ordered now. Mr. Davis objected to a discussion of the merits of the question, when Mr. Douglas fired up, claiming the right to discuss the subject, from the practice of the Senate in other cases. He then proceeded with his remarks, referring in strong terms to the fraudulent election returns in Kansas, &c. The right of Senators to demand an immediate investigation as to the facts. Messrs. Mason and Davis called him to order several times. The Chair permitted Mr. Douglas to proceed.

Mr. Mason interrupting, said the resolution shall never pass by any aid of his.

Mr. Douglas then proceeded, when Mr. Mason again objected. Mr. D. called for the ayes and nays—ayes 23, nays 24—absent, Allen, Bates, Brown, Clark, Evans, Green and Hunter, Johnson of Arkansas, Pearce, Read, Thompson of Ky., Thompson of N. J., and Wright.

The army bill was then read by Reid and Davis.

Mr. Foote submitted an order for the committee on the library, to report a plan for the accommodation of reporters other than for the reporters of the Congressional Globe in the eastern gallery.

Mr. Toombs objected, he did not think there ought to be any such persons in the gallery at all. The subject was laid over.

Gov. Wise on the Lecompton Constitution.

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 9.

A letter of nearly four columns, from Governor Wise, in response to an invitation to attend the anti-Lecompton meeting, held here last evening, will be published in the Press to-morrow. Gov. Wise says that a careful review of the President's message, constrained him to differ with the President in his choice. He protested against the mode in which the Lecompton Constitution was presented to be submitted, as anti-Republican and oppressive, and as offensive to the self-respect and good sense of a free people. He admits that the conduct of the Topeka tes was violent and unlawful, and that their opponents acted under lawful authority to the submission of the Constitution to the people, but that has nothing to do with the issue. Is the Constitution the act and deed of the people? and is the schedule republican? The wrongs of the Topekaites will not justify the wrongs of the Lecompton Constitution, or cure the defects of the Lecompton schedule, which, in providing for its ratification or rejection, was submitted for approval alone, without allowing a vote upon its rejection.

From Philadelphia.

BEDFORD, Pa., Feb. 9.

The Democracy of Bedford County, in mass meeting, adopted strong resolutions sustaining the National and State Administration.

☞ There are plenty of young gentlemen as well as pretty, of old ones, whose beards are turning gray, which gives the former a great deal of unsightliness; and exposes the age of the latter. To avoid these little perplexities, we advise such of our readers to use Prof. Wood's Hair Restorative, which will, in the course of a few weeks, change the hair to its natural color. It does not dye the hair like the most of the hair restoratives; but produces a gradual change of color from root to point. The change is unnoticed, and it soon has a youthful appearance. We have seen many persons who have used it success'ully, and pronounce it the only invention which has come to their ideas of Science for gray headed. We commenced using it about two months since, and if we are any judge of age and beauty, it has made us at least ten years younger; in fact, we are beginning to look quite young, and feel very much like getting a young wife. The change is unmistakable, and it would be a difficult to find a grey hair now as it would be to find an idea in the head of the Duke of Buckingham. We know several old maids and some young widows, whose locks are very beginning to assume a silvery hue, and who have been talking seriously about resorting to this remedy, and we advise them not to delay any longer. It never fails. —St. Louis Herald.

Getting up a Diversion.

Not liking the turn that the Kansas discussion is taking and anxious, therefore, to get up a counter-irritation, the News of yesterday reproduces the decayed skeleton of "Know Nothingism," and rattles its dry bones through a column article. After insisting, at great length and with much pertinacity, that the "Know Nothing Party" is still alive and active, and that Republicanism being dead and buried, the opponents of Democracy must perforce join the Know Nothings, the News comes to the "nub" of its article, which is this:

"It is, therefore, to be hoped, that not a man of foreign birth, who has ranked himself as a Democrat, will consent to be led off from the only party that acknowledges his rights and will steadily maintain them, into any other party.—Such a course, at this time, when the National Democracy is in the ascendancy, and is likely to be for an indefinite time, would be rank folly, if not suicidal.

This is a thread-bare story, and has been told so often by the News that its own readers are tired of it. The rights of adopted citizens are freely acknowledged by men of all parties, and any attempt to abridge, or infringe them, would be resisted by all. The implied threat, therefore, that if this class of electors do not sustain the Lecompton Swindle they will imperil, if not forfeit these rights, will win no supporters for the Administration among our citizens of foreign birth. Such ghost stories have no terrors for them. If "National Democracy" undertakes to proscribe, or punish them for standing out against the Lecompton Swindle, they will help to put the said Democracy where it will be incapable of doing further harm to anybody. The attempt of the News to frighten adopted citizens into sustaining the Administration, by this threatened revival of "Know Nothingism," is about as rational a device as the "Jenny Lind" cry, raised by Alderman Hadley and his backers in the Common Council, to deter Tax-Payers from investigating the robberies and rascalities by which the City Treasury has been emptied, the city debt increased, the city credit ruined, and the aggregate tax for the current year swollen to such an unprecedented amount.

Lecompton and Post Offices.

Editor CALKINS, of the Madison Argus, continues to write daily from Washington, in high praise of President Buchanan, his Lecompton Message and the Swindle itself. In his last epistle, under date of Feb. 6th, he says:

The Kansas matter has finally settled down so that every body knows the result. The agony may be prolonged for several weeks—but it is the agony of delay, not of uncertainty. The admission of Kansas under the Lecompton Constitution is a fixed fact that is doubted by none. It will go through the Senate easy enough, and through the House by from 7 to 15 majority. The President's Message upon the subject, is regarded as one of the best administration papers since the days of Jackson, and it irresistably carries the recollections back to the Meyswille veto and the South Carolina proclamation. It is a masterpiece of fact and logic.

The milk in that cocoanut is accounted for in a subsequent part of the same letter, as thus:

Our worthy Post Master, Mr. Jones, arrived last evening—in quest of a new lease of the honors and emoluments of his office. Major Ullman, of Racine, also came, to secure the fat prize now held by Dr. Cary, for which they are expecting candidates. It will probably be two weeks before the Wisconsin cases come up. Those that are to be disposed of then, are Madison, Kenosha, Racine and Fond du Lac. The terms of the present incumbents of these offices will expire on the 23d inst.

The number of "original Lecompton men" is becoming absolutely surprising. You would suppose that they were all so. It is astonishing how a sudden political conversion is sometimes made to "date back to cover accidents," as was the case with the smart girl's marriage certificate.

Nothing but "original Lecompton men" satisfy the Presidential requirements for Federal Office holders. Hence the anxiety to procure these certificates. Mr. CALKINS gives the following list of applicants for three Post Offices in this State:

Racine—B. B. Cary,* Major Ullman, S. Jowett.
Kenosha—Geo. H. Paul.*
Madison—Geo. P. Thompson, John Lowis, Caesius Fairchild, A. J. Ward, J. N. Jones,* E. A. Calkins.

Those marked with a star are the present incumbents. Nothing is said about the Milwaukee Post Office, though as our neighbor of the News was not an "original Lecompton man"—being violently opposed to the swindle two months ago—it is not impossible that he may be brought to the block, and his office bestowed upon Col. STEVENS, a very "original Lecompton man," and a devout believer in the infallibility of JAMES BUCHANAN.

PROPOSED RECESS OF THE LEGISLATURE.—Mr. H. H. Gray offered a joint resolution this forenoon, in the Assembly, to adjourn on Friday, 12th inst., to meet again the first Tuesday in March. It is considered to be absolutely necessary to take a recess for three or four weeks, or even longer, to enable the judiciary committee, authorized to act with the Revisors in examination of manuscript, and the joint investigating committee, in disposition of the Land Grant, to do justice to the labor on their hands, which is no small job. We are inclined to think a recess will be taken, but how soon or for what length of time it is impossible at present to say.—Madison Argus.

We hope that the Legislature will do nothing of the sort. Let them hurry through with their business, which ought not to occupy them more than four weeks longer, and then adjourn sine die. If the investigating and Judiciary Committees have not concluded their work by that time, let them continue in session and report, when they get through, either to the Governor, or the next Legislature.

RECOVERY OF AN IMMENSE CLAIM AGAINST THE RUSSIAN GOVERNMENT.—The Baltimore Patriot of late date says that Thomas Winans, Esq., of that city, has recovered a claim of five millions of dollars against the Russian Government, which makes his share of the proceeds from freight and passenger travel over the railroads of that country, reach the sum of seventeen millions—drafts for which on the banks of Europe have been brought on to him. It appears that, in his contract with Russia, he was to receive a certain per centage on all freight and passenger travel, but it was thought by the Government that they were exempted from this tax when applied to the transportation of soldiers to take part in the war in the Crimea. He accordingly engaged the services of John H. B. Latrobe, Esq., who went on and recovered the claim by due course of law, and, on account of the many thousand soldiers transported, his proportion was swollen from twelve to seventeen millions. Mr. Latrobe, we understand, received a fee of $10,000 a month, independent of his expenses, and upon reaching Baltimore, and announcing the result of his labors, was presented with a check for $100,000. The very great wealth and liberality of Mr. Winans, renders him a valued citizen of Baltimore. The Patriot says that he has purchased a tract of land with water front at Canton, where having received a contract from the Russian Government, he will proceed to the construction of a number of magnificent vessels of war.

Mr. Winans is the gentleman who illuminated his residence in Baltimore, when news was received of some good fortune of the Russians during the Crimean war; and it is certain that he had good reason to take interest in the welfare of his friends.

The M. & M. R. R. Election.

As there was a very large attendance of stockholders, and an unprecedently heavy vote at the Annual Election, on Tuesday last, for Directors of the Milwaukee & Mississippi Railroad Company; and as much interest was felt, both in and out of the city, in the result, we have procured and herewith annex a correct statement of the vote polled. The whole number of shares represented was about 27,000 out of a total share list of 30,000. The vote stood thus:

E. D. Holton,	23,203
John Catlin,	26,738
H. Crocker,	27,006

and a few scattering.

The last seven names were on the Opposition ticket, in the place of the six or seven, on the successful ticket, who received the fewest votes. The average Opposition vote was not far from 4,600, in a poll of 27,000.

THE CASE CLEARLY STATED.—The New York Tribune thus remarks upon Mr. BUCHANAN'S manifesto, in behalf of the Lecompton Swindle:

In his late extraordinary Message in favor of the Lecompton Constitution, the President urged that document on the favorable consideration of Congress, not because it is agreeable to the people of Kansas, but because its rejection will be keenly felt by the people of fourteen States of the Union where Slavery is recognized under the Constitution of the United States." As to the people of Kansas, they are contemptuously spoken of as a few thousands—and stigmatized as insurgents and rebels at that—whose wishes and interests are but dust in the balance compared with that of their lords and masters in Congress assembled.

In transferring the decision upon the Lecompton Constitution from the tribunal of Kansas to the tribunal of the nation, the President still zealously adheres to the principle which, from first to last, has been acted upon by the conclators and friends of that instrument, that the minority ought to be govern. Setting aside, as if tacitly unworthy of notice, the wishes, interests and institutions of seventeen States of the Union, the President urges the Lecompton Constitution on the ground that its rejection will be "keenly felt" by "the people of fourteen States of the Union where slavery is recognized." Thus not only is the majority of the States, having a majority two to one of the citizens of the Union, left entirely out of account, but the Lecompton Constitution is pressed upon Congress exclusively upon the ground of its being agreeable to an interest which includes only a very lean minority indeed of the citizens of even those fourteen favored States. Congress, says the President, must swallow the Lecompton Constitution, minority Constitution and political fraud though it may be, and must force it down the reluctant throats of the people of Kansas. Why? Because, though disagreeable to the people of Kansas, it is agreeable to the great body of the people of the Union? O, no! not at all. The great body of the people of the Union seem to be just as insignificant in the eyes of the President, and just as worthy of consideration as the "few thousand" Kansas "rebels." The Lecompton Constitution must be established as the Constitution of Kansas, because its rejection would be "keenly felt" by three hundred and fifty thousand slaveholders.

PRESCOTT CITY BANK.—Preliminary arrangements have been made for starting a Bank of issue in this city, and in a few weeks as soon as the necessary legal forms shall have been gone through with, it will be opened. At a meeting of the Stockholders on the 21st inst., O. T. Maxson, L. D. Nowell, and George W. Martin of Prescott, and A. M. Torbin of Hastings were chosen directors George W. Martin was elected President, and Charles Benton, Cashier. This is to be a solid institution and no wild cat operation. Men of capital here, and at Hastings are interested in it. The capital has been fixed at $50,000 and will probably be soon increased to $100,000 and upwards. Such an institution has long been needed in Prescott and will be a great accomodation to our business men.—Prescott Transcript.

STAGE AND HORSES LOST.—We learn from a letter, that a few days ago, as the stage and four horses were crossing a bridge across the Whitewater, about 40 miles above Winona, in Minnesota; they got into the river and were all lost.—Odena Advertiser Feb. 6.

Lola Montez on Beautiful Women.

Hope Chapel was thoroughly crowded on Wednesday night, to the last inch of its capacity and a little over, with an audience, among whom were many fashionably dressed ladies, attracted thither by the fame of Lola Montez and her renowned lecture on "Beautiful Women." Immediately she appeared on the rostrum, she was greeted with a burst of applause, and her eyes and dress became the objects of much attention. The former were large, black, brilliant, piercing, and the latter was white lace, chastely and tastefully embroidered. In a clear, silvery-ringing voice, the lecturer commenced her discourse.—The last and most difficult task imposed upon Psyche, she said, was that of descending to the lower regions to bring back part of Proserpine's beauty. Having obtained it, she placed it in a box, whose lid, when she returned to earth, the inquisitive goddesses opened, and found only vapor therein. In attempting to deal with the subject of woman's beauty, she (Lora) painfully felt that she had to deal with that vapor of Psyche's. It was so difficult to determine what beauty was, or to find any standard for it. What was beauty at Paris was not so at Constantinople.—The standard was different in different countries, so that what was deformity in the United States would be considered beauty in Pekin. The poet Cowley had said:

"Beauty, thou wild, fantastic ape,
In every country dost thou change thy shape,
Here black, there brown, here tawny, and there white."

In China plucked eyelids and miniature feet were admired, while in Patagonia they had a most Polyphemus style of beauty. Voltaire said—Ask a toad what is beauty, that which is most desirable, the to lelon, and he will answer you, probably, his female, with two large round eyes, projecting out of a little head, and with a brown, striped back. Ask a negro, and he will point with delight to the greasy, black skin, thick lips and very flat nose of his adored. In many countries corpulency in woman is the essential point of beauty. It was from the common, admired shape of his countrywomen that Rubens delighted in an odious plumpness. He always gave me, said Lola, the notion that no woman could be graceful in his eyes, unless she weighed three hundred pounds. His very Graces he always painted fat.

Red hair, the lecturer continued, had fallen in our days into disfavor, but in the time of good Queen Bess it was all the fashion;—so much so, that the Scotch Queen Mary, though she had beautiful black hair of her own, wore red fronts, in deference to the fashion, and to the red hair of the Queen of England. Cleopatra was red headed, and the Egyptian ladies even now have a passion for imitating her yellow locks. The celebrated order of the Golden Fleece was instituted by the Duke of Burgundy in honor of a fair, frail Court beauty, renowned for her yellow locks.

I can remember the time, said the lecturer, when in studying English, how surprised I was to find, in Mr. Hume's essays, that there was nothing beautiful or deformed, desirable or hateful, but as it was made so by our own minds, arising out of human attributes and affections.—She had since so far agreed with Mr. Hume as to find the greatest difficulty in her mind to settle on any standard of female beauty. Even Canova—the great Canova—had sixty women to sit to him for his "Venus." How, then, could we point to any one woman as a standard of beauty? Again, Louxis, when he painted his "Helen," had six Grecian virgins to design from.

But, though there was a difficulty in settling the standard of beauty, there could be no doubt about its power over the constitutions and institutions of mankind. Beauty and unsettled empires, shaken thrones, troubled dynasties, and even Republics. The poet Tasso said that beauty and grace were the arms of woman, and Ariosto said that after the gods had given all to man, there remained for poor woman only beauty—the most, added the lecturer very significantly, the most victorious of all the gifts. Even the dear old blind poet testified to its power in his description of Helen. When she showed herself on the walls of Troy the aged Priam forgot his cares, and the weapon of Menelaus fell to her beauty, and his arm grew nerveless. Heavens! that face should so bewitch a soul, and all that's great and Godlike in it!

But, after all this, where are we to detect this especial source of power? Sometimes in a dimple, or beneath the shade of an eyelid, or beneath the tresses of a fantastic simple curl. The lecturer said she once knew a nobleman in Europe who used to try to emancipate himself from the thraldom of beauty by saying "it won't last—it cannot last," and indeed beauty will not last. It has its date, and it is the penalty of our nature that girls must fade and become wizened as their grand-mothers before them. The wearer of a hundred hearts, in the very zenith of her beauty cannot obtain a patent for her charms; let her select them from all parts of the world—let her be another Helen, and have a box wherewith to repair them, yet must she travel that same road where all the withered leaves doth!

From her own observations, she would say, that, as a general thing, we must go into the ranks of this nobility to find the most beautiful women of Europe, and of these the nobility of Great Britain would bear away the palm, not only from Europe, but from the rest of the world. In calling to mind the lovely forms she has seen there, she chiefly remembered the Duchess of Sutherland, a large and magnificent woman—a natural Queen—the paragon and type of all that was beautiful in the aristocracy of England. Then there was Lady Blessington, that marvelous woman, at whose feet kings and noblemen worshipped, and who was so beautiful that in Italy they called her La Diva—the Goddess. The present Duchess of Wellington is considered one of the ornaments of the Court of Queen Victoria, but she has no intellect or animation; she is as beautiful as a piece of sculpture, and as cold. The lecturer alluded to the three ladies of the Sheridon family—the Hon. Mrs. Norton, celebrated on this side the Atlantic for her beauty, her poetry an her misfortunes; Lady Blackwood and Lady Seymour, who was crowned queen of beauty at the celebrated Eglinton tournament.

The women of France, said Lola, are not generally beautiful, but they are so charming! How well a French woman understands the art of pleasing! She seems to forget herself in pleasing those around her; she understands so well what tact is; and if every woman understood that, we should have a petticoat Government all over the world. France, however, was not without its beautiful women; there was Marquise de la Grange, Madame de Castellat, who is rather of the Italian type, and the Empress Eugenie, who is handsomer than them all. All the portraits of Eugenie greatly exaggerate her size, for she is rather a short woman. Before her marriage to the Emperor she was a great admiror of the celebrated pianist, Lewis Gottschalk, who, since in America, has carried away the hearts of half a million of girls, without being himself touched by any one of them.

The members of the Royal family of Russia are among the most beautiful women of Europe. In Turkey, there are very few beautiful women. The standard of beauty there is one of unwieldy fat, and no woman is considered a Venus who is not a great load for a camel's back. The Turkish lords of creation feed their ladies on pounded rose-leaves and butter to make them fat.—They treat them as Americans treat their geese—stuff them to increase their size. If there are any ladies in New York weighing from three to four hundred pounds, let them at once proceed to Constantinople, where they will find a ready market for their charms. Through the courtesy of Sir Stratford Canning, she (Lola,) obtained admission to the Sultan's Harem, where she went about as she pleased, and saw the Sultan's wives, denominated the lights of the world. She found that these lights of the world were five or six hundred monsters of fat. If the American Plato, the celebrated Ralph Emerson, were to see them, he would exclaim, "what quantity!" There is not a single beautiful woman in that vast accumulation of pounded rose-leaves and butter.

The charms of the Asiatic women are not great. The Bengalee women were very good from 11 to 16; at 20 they become old and haggard as an American woman at 60. In Italy the women were dark, fiery and bright, as the sky that bends above them. A true Italian woman is a type of grace, beauty and love. The women of Italy have nothing to employ them but love and let it intrigue, and when they are old they get up Platonic love scrapes. They have one great reason for excuse—their own husbands neglect them, and the wife looks abroad for what should satisfy her affections at home. She, the lecturer, was inclined to believe that the rule holds good in more countries than Italy. Montenelle describes woman as a creature that loves. It is as natural for a woman to keep loving on an object, as for flowers to give back their aroma to the sun and air. This is a mighty lesson for husbands. Gentlemen, if you please, if you would have your homes hold no other hearts than yours, see that your hearts are always found at home.

From the time of Phocion and Alcibiades, the beauty of Greece has been the ideal dream of the one, painter and sculptor. The statutes of her matrons and virgins, in their loose and gracefully flowing robes, enchain us to this very day. The invasion of the Gothe and Vandals made it necessary for the Grecian women to assume a more repulsive dress—hair tight-braided and robe shortened, as for flight. Thence we come to the farthingale and coiffure of the Middle Ages, when, as in the time of the Henrys and the Edwards of England, and of Charlemagne of France, the dress of woman made her appear as in a perfect state of siege. There were such circumvallations of whalebone, iron and steel about her, that a man had only time to discover it was a woman that passed him, when she had gone clean out of sight, or when he was informed by some pops or brother that that huge, moving castle contained a woman inside.

Of woman, when she begins to get old, the lecturer said it was pitiable to see her striving to retain the fashions and frivolties of youth.—There was nothing more melancholy to contemplate. Let her rather, as she advanced in years, resemble a Madame De Sevigne, than a Ninon de l'Enclos. Still, wrinkles may be warded off. St. Evremond has told us that a woman's last sigh is always for her beauty. There is a sort of sorcery prescribed in the form of cosmetics, to preserve the charms of perpetual youth, but if they were concocted in Medea's cauldron, they would fail.

The three great charms to perpetuate beauty were temperance, exercise and cleanliness. By temperance was meant moderation at the table, and in the enjoyment of what the world calls pleasure. A lady will soon lose her charms by a course of inordinate eating, drinking and keeping late hours. By exercise, she meant not that exercise which the beauties of New York take between 3 and 4 o'clock in the afternoon in Broadway, but such as English ladies take in their thick shoes, when they walk for hours together for the benefit of their complexion.—Cleanliness was the last receipt for the preservation of beauty, and to every woman a bath should be as indispensable as her looking-glass.

When I was in Paris, said Lola, bathing in milk was all the fashion, and every beauty who could afford it, indulged in that delicious bath every morning, until there became a great scarcity of milk for domestic puposes, but the Argus-eyed Police soon found that the servants sold back the milk which their mistresses had bathed in, which was retailed to the tea and coffee drinkers of the metropolis. It was not the less true that while fashionable women were literally swimming in milk, thousands had to dispense with it altogether. Tepid water and bran were the great beautifiers of the skin, and if the ladies would only take six baths of it, they would thank her, (the lecturer,) for the information. The French ladies, she said, were now accustomed, on going to bed, to bind their faces with thin slices of raw beef to improve the brilliancy of their complexions. It was noticeable that butchers' complexions were always brilliant, but what a sight for a lover, to behold the face of his beloved done up in a sandwich, and bound up in a white napkin! White satin masks were also used by French ladies on going to bed. Every lady, un per passe, uses them. A good plan for unprotected females to adopt, for no burglar would ever think of coming into the house.

In conclusion, the lecturer said, it had been her good fortune to see all the beautiful and fashionable women in all the gilded halls of the world, but she had never saw one in whom beauty could atone for a coarse mind, and a frigid uncharitable heart. Woman that she was, she never saw a woman as once beautiful, noble, amiable and charitable, doing good to her fellow creatures that she met along her daily path, without wishing that she were a man that she might marry her.

Lola was loudly cheered as she retired, and was again called forward to receive the plaudits of the audience.—N. Y. Times.

IS LAGER BIER INTOXICATING?—This great question of the day was raised in the trial of liquor dealers before the Circuit Court in Brooklyn, New York, last week. Yesterday the trials were continued. The case of Jacob Staats was the first called. Mr. Staats keeps a lager-bier saloon in the Eastern District of Brooklyn, and is indicted for selling intoxicating liquors on Sunday. Several witnesses swore that it was intoxicating. In the defence witnesses were equally positive that it was not. One witness swore that he drank on a wager, in the city of Brooklyn, seven and a half gallons of lager bier in two hours! Another, one hundred and sixty-guarts in one day! Another thirty pints within five minutes. Another took fifteen glasses to give him an appetite for breakfast. The case is still on.—N. Y. Times.

On this, the Tribune says:

"Will saltpeter explode? Will lager bier intoxicate? These great questions have never been settled, but the lager is in a fair way of solution just now in a Brooklyn Court. Sir John Falstaff was a great on sack, but his drinking is beneath contempt when compared with the bibulous feats of the lager drinkers of our day. Only think of seven gallons lager going down one throat in the space of two hours! It is sworn to; but we don't swallow it, nor do we believe anybody else will."

☞ The total number of deaths in the city of Buffalo, for the month of January, was one hundred and forty-four, which is thirty-three less than the corresponding month last year.

LOVE AND FAME.

BY H. T. TUCKERMAN.

Give me the boon of love!
I ask no more for fame;
Far better one unpurchased heart
Than glory's greatest name.
Why wake a fever in the blood,
Or thirst the spirit now,
To gain a wreath which leaves shall wave
Above a withered brow?

Give me the boon of love!
Ambition's meed is vain;
Denser affection's earnest smile
Than honor's richest train.
I'd rather lean upon a breast
Responsive to my own,
Than sit pavilioned gorgeously
Upon a kingly throne.

Like the Chaldean sage,
Fame's worshipper's adore
The brilliant orbs that scatter light
O'er Heaven's azure floor;
But, in their very bowers enshrined,
The votaries of love
Keep o'er the holy flame, which once
Illumed the courts above.

Give me the boon of love!
Renown is but a breath,
Whose loudest echo ever floats
From out the lists of death.
A lovely eye beguiles me more
Than fame's emblazon'd scrol,
And one sweet note of tenderness
Than triumph's wildest peal.

Give me the boon of love!
The path of fame is drear,
And glory's arch doth ever span
A blight-entombing bier;
One wild-flower from the path of love,
All lowly though it lie,
Is denser than the wreath that waves
To stern ambition's eye.

Give me the boon of love!
The lamp of fame shines far,
But love's soft light glows near and warm—
A pure and household star.
One tender glance can fill the soul
With a perennial fire;
But glory's flame burns chilly—
A lone funeral pire.

Give me the boon of love!

MALLEABLE IRON.—M. L. Normandy, a well known English Metallurgist, is the originator of an improved process by which malleable iron may be produced directly from fluid crude iron, by running it into a common puddling furnace, on the middle of the vault of which there is a round aperture about one foot in diame ter. A cast iron plate is laid over the top of this furnace, supported by the frame outside; there is a round hole in this plate corresponding to that of the vault, and a cylindrical chimney or pipe built of fire bricks surrounded by a cylindrical cast iron casing, is erected upon this plate. Six hollow cast iron vertical columns are placed round the cylinder, and at a little distance from it they are about three and a half feet high.—A circular pipe rests on the top of these hollow columns, and communicates with them; the blast rushes through the circular pipe, and, entering the columns, rushes through small tuyeres into the central chimney or pipe. Each column has five or six tuyeres, which are provided with valves or cocks so as to regulate the blast. The puddling furnace being previously heated, the blast is directed into the central chimney by opening all or part of the valves or tuyeres; crude iron in a molten or fluid state is then run from the blast furnace, and conveyed near the top of the central chimney, where it is poured in, in small streams. Whilst falling down it is permeated on all sides by the blast, and purified by the action of the air.

HOLE-IN-THE-DAY IN ST. PAUL.—There is trouble for the Pioneer. Hole-in-the-Day arrived in St. Paul on Monday from the world of spirits; and was regarded with great curiosity by our citizens from his having been so recently "shot right through the heart." The Chippewa Chief looks extremely well; and is even shorter than usual, showing that they have good living, down below. He wears a scarlet blanket instead of his common green one, his change of color being intended, doubtless, as a reminder of the bloody scene he so recently passed through. Hole departed yesterday for Washington city, where probably he has gone to expound redress a la General Walker, for the summary slaughter which he, the potentate of no individual nation, received at the hands of the Pioneer citizens. They may look out for a terrible retribution. This killing Indian Chiefs is a dangerous amusement not to be tolerated in this community.—Minnesotian, Feb. 3.

THE UNDERSIGNED would invite all interested parties to examine a working model of a BRICK MACHINE, which is superior to all others ever invented. It is much cheaper, more portable, and so simple as not to be liable to get out of order. Three men and one boy can make from 10 to 15,000 perfect Brick per day. It can be run with less power than any other. Needs but one horse power 2½ inch belt will work it with ease. It makes the Brick directly from the bank, with all tempering, and can make Brick all seasons of the year, without reward to weather. Circulars sent by addressing W.
